Introduction

These guidelines are intended for EU Ecolabel license holders, competent bodies, applicants, journalists, publishing houses and other relevant stakeholders. They provide instructions on how to properly use the EU Ecolabel logo on any type of packaging, marketing material or publication ⁽¹⁾.

These guidelines are based on the EU Ecolabel regulation, Regulation (EC) No 66/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 25 November 2009, in particular on Article 9 (points 9, 11 and 13) and on Annex II to this regulation.

The EU Ecolabel logo can be used on goods and services, and on their associated promotional material, exclusively during the validity period of the EU-Ecolabel-awarded license.

This EU Ecolabel guideline document may be periodically updated, at the discretion of the European Commission. Upon the publication of subsequent versions, the information presented in the latest will take precedence.

⁽¹⁾ Information and guidance provided within the logo guidelines for offline/print promotional material, publications, etc. also apply to online promotional material, such as online catalogues, online product flyers, etc.

General restrictions and specifications

- The right to use the EU Ecolabel logo shall not infringe the European Commission's trademark rights.
- The previous version of the EU Ecolabel logo shall no longer be used to market the EU Ecolabel.
- The logo and license number shall only be used during the validity period of the EU Ecolabel license.
- The logo must only be used with its corresponding license number in relation to the specific good/service for which it has been awarded and/or on its associated promotional material.
- It is prohibited to associate the logo with non-EU-Ecolabel-awarded goods/ services or to use it as part of a license-holding company's general profile.
- If a license holder has more than one product registered under a license, it suffices to indicate the license number only once next to the logo on any associated promotional material.
- Displaying the EU Ecolabel license number is fundamental for traceability reasons and to convey clear information to the consumer. Only the European Commission, competent bodies and the EU Ecolabel Helpdesk are authorised to use the EU Ecolabel logo without a license number to promote the EU Ecolabel. Therefore, organisations (who are not license holders) wishing to use the logo need to request prior authorisation from them.
- The logo background must not be transparent if the background on which it is placed is patterned.

Correct

The EU Ecolabel logo and license number shall be clearly visible, regardless of the type of packaging.

Incorrect

The EU Ecolabel logo background and license number shall not be transparent and shall not be presented without their frame.

As long as the logo's borders remain either black or white, its background colour within the frame can be the same as the background colour outside of the frame (i.e. its packaging). The black version of the logo shall be used on a light-coloured background while the white version of the logo shall be used on a dark-coloured background. The logo's background may not be patterned.

The license number

The EU Ecolabel license number shall be presented as indicated in the EU Ecolabel regulation (Regulation \(EC\) No 66/2010: Annex II 'Form of the EU Ecolabel'). The correct display of the EU Ecolabel license number is essential for reasons of traceability and to provide clear information to the consumer.

EU Ecolabel: XXXX/YYY/ZZZZ

XXXX Country code

Indicates the Member State in which the license holder registered a good/service.

YYY Product/service group code

Product group code found in its respective Commission decision.

ZZZZ Application code

Assigned by the competent body.

In regard to the product/service group code 'YYY', regardless of how this code is formulated (how many digits) within respective Commission decisions, competent bodies shall always assign three digits to this code within the license number in order to respect the EU Ecolabel regulation.

Example of a license number for an EU Ecolabel textile product

EU Ecolabel: XXXX/016/ZZZZ

The '0' is added to the textile product group code to provide a three-digit code, even though it is displayed as '16' in its Commission decision.

The following format must be applied to correctly reproduce the EU Ecolabel license number.

- Font: Verdana.
- Font size: minimum 7.
- Colours for the license number text and frame: see specifications for 'colours'/'monochrome' on page 8 and 9. The textbox frame shall have rounded corners; the text cannot be used without the textbox frame.
- The license number can be presented on one or two lines:

EU Ecolabel: XXXX/YYY/ZZZZ

EU Ecolabel:
XXXX/YYY/ZZZZ

Whenever the EU Ecolabel logo is presented⁽²⁾, the relevant license number must appear (preferably near the logo). The following examples illustrate acceptable placement of the license number in relation to the EU Ecolabel logo.

✓ Correct

Example 1:

License number directly above or below logo (most common).

✓ Correct

Example 2:

License number and logo on the same side of packaging, spaced apart.

✓ Correct

Example 3:

License number of the opposite side of packaging.

⁽²⁾ This applies to the display of the EU Ecolabel logo on packaging, as shown in the examples above, but also to promotional/marketing material advertising a specific EU Ecolabel product/service. When the logo is displayed, the license number must be clearly indicated to allow traceability and to provide clear information to the consumer.

The optional logo

Within the optional logo, colour or monochrome, all text (with the exception of the logo and the EU Ecolabel web address) shall respect the following format.

→ Font: Verdana.

→ Font size: minimum 7.

→ Colours: see specifications for 'colours'/'monochrome' on page 8 and 9.

While the optional logo is not mandatory⁽³⁾, it could be an attractive tool to inform consumers about the good or service's minimised environmental impact. This optional logo can be displayed in addition to the EU Ecolabel logo, or without it. In both cases the license number must be present.

The informational bullet points presented within the optional logo shall coincide with the information indicated on every good or service's corresponding Commission decision criterion titled 'Information appearing on the EU Ecolabel'.

Other product-specific mandatory text, for example 'Please collect used paper for recycling', (criterion 9, Commission Decision (EU) 2020/1803 establishing the EU Ecolabel criteria for printed paper, stationery paper and paper carrier bag products) shall not be included within the textbox.

Regarding translations of the optional logo or product-specific mandatory text, the following applies.

→ The translation of the text 'Better for the environment...better for you', along with all optional and mandatory text translations, shall be taken from Regulation (EC) No 66/2010, available in all official EU languages.

→ The optional logo is available in all official EU languages. Contact the responsible competent body for the colour and monochrome (black and white) modifiable template files.

⁽³⁾ According to the EU Ecolabel regulation, the logo text box is optional, but whenever an EU Ecolabel license user decides to use it, it shall comply with the criterion on 'Information appearing on the EU Ecolabel' of the applicable Commission decision.

Regarding different language versions, only the following three options can be used to communicate the good's/service's minimised environmental impact via the optional logo.

Option 1

Include any desired translations of bullet points into EU languages in one box without translations of 'Better for the environment...', '... better for you'.

Option 2

Include any desired translations of bullet points into EU languages in one box with the translation of 'Better for the environment...', '... better for you' in all corresponding EU languages.

Communicating information about the EU Ecolabel via promotional material

The following information can be used to explain the significance of the EU Ecolabel in general.

'The EU Ecolabel is the European Union's official voluntary label for environmental excellence. EU Ecolabel products have a reduced environmental impact across multiple stages of the product life cycle.'

For EU Ecolabel tourist accommodation:

'The EU Ecolabel identifies eco-friendly and high-quality tourist accommodation with excellent environmental performance.'

All indications on EU Ecolabel logo use outlined throughout this document shall be equally considered for (offline and online) advertising and free promotional sample purposes, in addition to the following specifications.

a) EU Ecolabel logo use in promotional material

1. Promotional material created by the license holder

The license holder shall ensure that the logo, clearly accompanied by its corresponding license number(s), is exclusively associated with the product/service awarded with the EU Ecolabel. This is especially important if awarded products and non-awarded products are advertised together.

✓ If more than one product with the same license number is shown, it is sufficient to present the license number only once on any promotional material.

2. Promotional/informational material created by journalists, reporters, publishing houses, etc.

Informational material presented in any publication from non-EU Ecolabel license holders should be submitted to the responsible national competent bodies or to the EU Ecolabel Helpdesk for advice. This is particularly the case for materials to be developed in a language other than English. Please refer to page 4 for further instructions on how to receive further guidance regarding the application of the EU Ecolabel logo guidelines.

3. Promotional material created by raw material suppliers

Raw material suppliers for EU Ecolabel products are prohibited from marketing or associating themselves with the EU Ecolabel in any way (e.g. using the EU Ecolabel logo, license number, or written text associated with the EU Ecolabel to promote their raw materials).

b) EU Ecolabel license information presented in print or online databases

The public EU Ecolabel product catalogue lists the goods and services currently awarded with the EU Ecolabel. The information within the catalogue is regularly uploaded on the data.europa.eu, the official portal for European data where it is accessible to anyone. The data.europa.eu is the central platform for downloading this public data; print or online databases interested in promoting EU Ecolabel licenses for marketing or communication purposes can download the latest data on the EU Ecolabel at any time.

All rules that apply to the logo and license number usage also apply to this type of marketing initiative. For further information and clarification of questions etc., please contact the EU Ecolabel Helpdesk.

c) EU Ecolabel logo use for educational material

Educational quizzes, e-learning courses, textbooks, informational material about ecolabels in general, etc.

Stakeholders wishing to use the EU Ecolabel for educational rather than promotional purposes shall contact the EU Ecolabel Helpdesk or their national competent body for more information. Please ensure you submit accompanying texts about how the EU Ecolabel is to be displayed within the educational material. All the rules that apply to the style and size of the EU Ecolabel logo as specified in these guidelines shall apply.

Specific logo use for product/service groups

The following non-exhaustive list of examples outlines product/service group-specific indications regarding logo use.

Printed paper products (Commission Decision (EU) 2020/1803)⁽⁴⁾

Example 1: EU Ecolabel printed paper and advertisement on EU Ecolabel products/services

The EU Ecolabel logo, license number, and text 'EU-Ecolabel-awarded printed paper' can be used on EU Ecolabel printed paper products (e.g. newspapers, journals, magazines, books, brochures, etc.). If this same paper advertises an EU Ecolabel product or service, the logo, license number and advertising text on the printed paper shall follow the rules for using the logo presented in the section 'Communicating information about the EU Ecolabel via promotional materials'.

Example 2: EU Ecolabel printed paper and advertisement on non-EU-Ecolabel products/services

If an EU Ecolabel printed paper product (e.g. newspapers, journals, magazines, books, brochures, etc.), advertises a product or service that has not been awarded the EU Ecolabel, the publisher/editor shall clearly indicate that the EU Ecolabel logo and license number refer solely to the EU Ecolabel printed paper product.

EU Ecolabel: XXXX/YYY/ZZZZ

Example 3: Non-EU-Ecolabel printed paper and advertisement on EU Ecolabel products/services

If a printed paper product (e.g. newspapers, journals, magazines, books, brochures, etc.) that has not been awarded the EU Ecolabel advertises an EU Ecolabel good or service, the EU Ecolabel license holder shall make it clear that the logo solely refers to the EU Ecolabel good or service advertised on the non-EU-Ecolabel printed paper product.

⁽⁴⁾ Please note that an EU-Ecolabel-awarded print product, such as a magazine/book (criteria for printed paper apply), is different from EU-Ecolabel-awarded paper (criteria for graphic paper apply). The EU Ecolabel logo on printed products can be displayed only if these products have been awarded in accordance with Commission Decision (EU) 2020/1803. No logo display is allowed for a printed paper if only the paper substrate bears the EU Ecolabel for graphic paper in accordance with Commission Decision (EU) 2019/70.

Example 4: Digital version of EU Ecolabel printed paper products

This example is applicable to and can be used in conjunction with all abovementioned examples.

If an EU Ecolabel license is awarded to a printed paper product (e.g. newspapers, journals, magazines, books, brochures, etc.) that also has an equivalent digital version, the following phrase on the electronic version shall be indicated with the license number (or license number and logo if the license holder is the one advertising): 'The print version of this newspaper/journal/magazine/book is awarded the EU Ecolabel license number: XXXX/YYYY/ZZZZZ.'

Graphic paper / tissue paper / tissue products (Commission Decision (EU) 2019/70)⁽⁵⁾

Logo use

License holders for the aforementioned product groups shall place the EU Ecolabel logo solely on the product's packaging, or on associated promotional material, but not on every individual sheet or on a final product such as a book or a newspaper.

Textiles (Commission Decision 2014/350/EU)

Sewn EU Ecolabel logo and license number

The EU Ecolabel logo may be sewn on the textile product as a tag or directly on the product. It may be visible on the inside or outside of the product. Please note that the EU Ecolabel license number must also be displayed, preferably near the EU Ecolabel logo.

Cosmetics (Commission Decision (EU) 2021/1870)

Sticker use

It is not permitted to place a sticker with the EU Ecolabel logo on permanent soap dispensers to communicate that the soap has been awarded the EU Ecolabel. Since EU Ecolabel soap pouches display the logo and license number, it is possible to communicate that the soap has been awarded the EU Ecolabel by installing clear/transparent soap dispensers.

Services

Services are uniquely authorised to use the EU Ecolabel logo, accompanied with the corresponding license number, in email signatures, on company general letterhead paper and on company cars as a means to advertise the service as awarded with the EU Ecolabel.

Services that use the same brand name for EU-Ecolabel-awarded services and non-EU-Ecolabel-awarded services are not authorised to use the EU Ecolabel logo on company letterhead paper, in signatures or on company cars.

Services that fall within this latter category are exceptionally allowed to use the EU Ecolabel logo in letterhead paper, signatures and company cars if the address of the EU-Ecolabel-awarded service is clearly mentioned near the EU Ecolabel logo and license number.

⁽⁵⁾ Please refer to footnote 4 for the distinction between EU-Ecolabel-awarded printed paper products and graphic paper / tissue paper / tissue paper products.
